

And the girls winners are....

Parity ruled as ties were the rule for top county honors in the girls basketball categories.

Best scorer: Romeo senior Paige Sickmiller helped lead the Bulldogs to the MAC White Division championship in large part to her offensive abilities. Sickmiller also will play college basketball next season at Wayne State.

Other players receiving votes in this category were Dakota's LaQwana Dockery, Fraser's Becka McHenry, L'Anse Creuse's Carlay Stahl, Lutheran North's Michelle Irvin and Regina's Hannah Sabol.

Best shooter: Coaches had varied opinions on the county's top shooter, leading to a four-way tie for the top spot with Sickmiller, Chippewa Valley's Brittany Simon, Ford's Kelsey Raczak and Becka McHenry all sharing the honor.

Dakota's Dockery also received votes in this category.

Best defender: Dakota's Taylor Askins claimed this honor, and she is a big reason the Cougars are allowing 40.8 points per game.

Other players receiving votes were Eisenhower's Alyssa Telang and Romeo's Sam Tomaschko.

Best rebounder: Another category that was up for grabs with L'Anse Creuse's Stahl, Regina's Sabol and Romeo's Tomaschko all tying for the top spot.

Other players receiving votes were Eisenhower's Michelle Blain, Romeo's Sickmiller and Stevenson's Courtney Zammit.

Best handle: Three players snagged this honor with Chippewa Valley's Simon, Dakota's Shantelle Herring and Cousino's Elena Popkey tying for first.

Other players receiving votes were Dakota's Askins and Utica's Sarah Miller.

Best athlete: Fraser's McHenry claimed the honor in this category. McHenry started in the backcourt for the Ramblers two years ago in the Class A state championship game, and she has helped Fraser go 55-16 the past three seasons.

Other players receiving votes were Cousino's Danielle Meyer, Dakota's Dockery, Lutheran North's Allisen Kuppe and Utica's Eryn Maday.

Best prepared coach: Fraser's Dave Kuppe, who led Fraser to the Class A state championship game two seasons ago, heads this list.

Other coaches who received votes were Dakota's Phil McCune, Ford's Matt Joseph and South Lake's Jay Ritchie.

Best coach at in-game adjustments: South Lake's Ritchie and Ford's Joseph tied for the top spot. Kuppe and McCune also received votes.
